

Professional Oversight, Knowledgeable Insight

Not-For-Profit Organizations today face unique business and financial challenges. From declining federal and state grant funding to increased oversight from regulatory and tax authorities, including greater compliance requirements, effectively managing a not-for-profit is more complex than ever before.

// As a community based NonProfit Hospice we need more than just an annual review to navigate the legal and practical standards for our industry. The team provides guidance year-round to help our business strategies. WISS is not just our accounting firm, they are our partners in serving the community!
